

Blood.

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health. When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—marrow and blood.

You have not tried it, send for free sample. Scott's Emulsion will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 108 Pearl Street, New York.

Is He Implicated?

John L. Bosley, of Paris, is placed in an unenviable position if the following testimony is true. In the Powers trial on Thursday night one of the witnesses was Therman Stivers, formerly assistant postmaster at Paris. He said that he talked with John L. Bosley Friday before the assassination of Goebel. Bosley was nervous and said things looked gloomy at Frankfort, but that Goebel would never be Governor of Kentucky. Stivers asked why and Bosley replied that there was a plot to raid the Senate on the following day.

Witness said Bosley said that five of the bravest men in Kentucky were in the plot and added, "We are determined to kill that dog."

Stivers asked if it was not true that many Senators might be killed. Bosley answered that it was probable, but that they were determined to kill Goebel. He said that Bosley had later told him that the plot to raid the Senate could not be carried out, but another plan had been adopted.

"Are you and Bosley not bitter enemies?" Stivers was asked on cross-examination.

"Yes, I guess we are."

Good Roads The Need of The South.

An Important Movement—Good Roads Train.

Negotiations which have been pending for some time were closed last week by which the National Good Roads Association, assisted by the office of Public Road Inquiry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, will run a "Good Roads Special Train" over the lines of the Southern Railway, stopping at various points for the purpose of building sample roads and holding meetings with the view of educating the people along the line in practical road building. These arrangements were perfected by President W. H. Moore, of the National Good Roads Association, with the Southern Railway Company. It is planned to spend several days at each point, giving ample time to construct a road from one half to one mile long.

President Spencer, of the Southern Railway Company, is taking a great deal of interest in this subject of good roads for the South. Ever since the organization of the National Good Roads Association, the Southern Railway has been represented at its National meetings and many of its public demonstrations; and this train is distinctively a Southern Railway undertaking, to be carried out at a heavy expense to that company, and is in line with the development policy so persistently followed in building up the county tributary to the lines of the Southern Railway.

The train will leave Washington about November 1. It will consist of about ten cars, on which will be transported all necessary machinery for the building of roads, officers, road experts and laborers. The trip will consume several weeks.

So much has been said and written in regard to this subject of good roads that the people of the South are practically in thorough accord with the idea that good roads are an acquisition to the country. It is hoped that every citizen of the South will, if possible, attend these Good Road Meetings and witness the modern and up-to-date methods of building public highways.

As the lines of competition are being drawn closer and margins of profit narrower, every element looking to the economical production of the products of the country should be employed, and as it has been thoroughly demonstrated that good roads are the prime factor in the upbuilding of every section of the country, every citizen of the South should take a personal interest in this subject. The South needs better roads; every farm would be benefited thereby, the public will appreciate the advantages thereof, and it is hoped the educational feature carried on by the National Good Roads Association, supported by the Southern Railway Company, will accomplish the purposes of this movement.

The South can have good roads if it will, and the sooner the citizens get together and work along some well-organized and practical line these results will be reached the quicker. There is nothing that will do more to increase the value of lands and advance the development of the rural districts than well-constructed roads. The improvement of the road system will have a wonderful effect in stimulating the settlement of people on farms, and as these settlements are being made so will the value of the land increase.

Wherever a town or city is found possessing well-made roadways leading therefrom, the business of that point will be found in a prosperous condition. Therefore, the citizen of every town in the south will be promoting his own interests if he gives this movement his moral and, if necessary, financial support. Every State, County, City and town officer should give this subject of better roads serious consideration, take the matter in hand immediately and show his constituents that the movement for better roads will receive his utmost consideration and co-operation.

It is universally decided that good roads are wanted. In order to secure them all must pull together, working systematically and on practical lines. This grand tour planned by the Southern Railway Company is a signal for action. If the States visited are not alive to this and do not avail themselves of the opportunity to secure information afforded by the "Good Roads Special Train," no one will be at fault except the citizens of the States in which the exhibits are made.

Let it be resolved to have good roads and to put that resolution in effect at once.

For the purpose of interesting the citizens of the communities adjacent to the points where these meetings will be held in attending them, low round trip rates will be made from points in the territory tributary to the central meeting places.

Judge Hazelrigg Warned.

On Friday at Georgetown Judge Hazelrigg testified that shortly before Goebel was shot on Tuesday morning, January 30, Leander Guffy, son of Appellate Judge B. L. D. Guffy, warned him not to go to the Court of Appeals, that "the boys had decided the night before to kill the Chief Justice."

Previously William H. Culton swore that at a meeting between Taylor, Powers, Finley and himself, Taylor said that if the Democrats did not stop, Hazelrigg and Hobson should be killed, and that would settle the contest.

Culton also testified that it was determined at a meeting held at Lexington on Sunday, January 28, that the Republicans would seat Henry Berry, of Fayette county, by force on the following day, Monday, and when the Democrats started to seat Yan Meter, the Republicans would begin to shoot. Culton stationed his men on the floor of the House, ready to murder and kill the Democratic Representatives, when Charles Finley came up and said: "Culton, don't start that trouble to-day. Gen. Duke says other arrangements have been made to settle this contest."

THE SCRIBBLER

Wise and Otherwise—
Mostly Otherwise.

A Menifee county woman, after but three days of married life, has asked for a divorce because of the startling discovery that her husband has a wooden leg. Thousands of women who have married men with wooden heads, and are getting along nicely with them, will think her a very silly creature.

"Nothing" said an impatient husband the other Sunday as he passed out of the church door, "remind me so much of Balaam and his 'mule' as two women stopping in the aisle and obstructing the way to indulge in their everlasting talk." "But you forget, my dear," returned the better half meekly, "that it was the angel who stopped the way, and Balaam and his mule who complained of it."

We wish to say to the "Red Man" who takes his dog to the Wigwam with him and leaves him locked up two or three days every week, that we will have him scalped and burned at the stake if he does it again. Twice recently the kind-hearted pale faces of this office have hunted up a key and let the dog out, almost starved. The dog could not give us the grip, but the distress sign was plainly given from the window in front of our office.

The Georgetown News says that news from the corn fields is shocking.

Professors in Chicago University are calling each other Mister, and compelling everyone else to call them Mister. This intrusive action is likely to be hotly resented by the few remaining citizens who glory in the proud title of Mister and the Professors should be compelled to show reason why they are entitled to it. Next thing the Generals, Colonels and Honorables will make a rush for this new honor, and then where will the glory lie in being plain Mister?

In this issue appears the announcement of H. H. Wilson as a candidate for Jailor.

Mr. Wilson is 45 years old and a native of Breathitt county. For nine years he has lived in this county. He is a farmer and has been successful. He has always been an ardent Republican. He is not a Republican nominee, but is a candidate subject to the will of the people. He has never asked for an office. He will be run over by a Sledd and used up.

Asthma Cured.

After Thirty-Five Years of Suffering.

It will be gratifying to Asthmatic readers to learn that an absolute cure has at last been discovered by Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann. That the remedy is an effectual one can not be doubted after personal of such testimony as that of C. W. Van Antwerp, Fulton, N. Y., who says:—"Your remedy, (Schiffmann's Asthma Cure) is the best I ever used. I bought a package from our druggist and tried it and one box entirely cured me of asthma, and I have not had it since. I can now go to bed and sleep all night with perfect comfort, which I have not done before for 35 years and I thank you for the health I now enjoy. I hope that you will publish this letter, that others may learn of its wonderful virtues."

Woman as School Superintendent.

When a woman first announced as a candidate for the office of County School Superintendent, men and women alike tried to become disgusted with every one who had such aspirations. She was severely criticised as when first she became a school teacher, but time brought experience and experience has verified the woman prophecy, that if she knew better how to bring the little ones up modest, refined, with good language and pleasant manners at home she certainly was endowed with gifts that would make her teaching effective in the school room. Mark the results. Old men and women who shook their hoary locks and gave expressions of discouragement to woman's new field of labor, now credit her with rich gifts and marvelous success. No longer do they ascribe to her sphere the four walls of the kitchen or nursery, but the school room has for her symmetrical adaptations, and the young women and men as well owe much to the knowledge imparted to them by woman. Science Hill had her Mrs. Julia A. Tevis; Georgetown College her Miss Rowena A. Pollard; Harris Institute her Mrs. Lou Harris; Jessamine Institute her Mrs. N. S. W. Vineyard; Hamilton College her Mrs. J. B. Skinner; Mt. Sterling Graded School her Mrs. Nannie K. Hibler and others are gaining high rank as teachers and principals and are so accepted by the world's scholars. Not a few are authors, from the ranks of mothers and daughters, and the professions are interspersed with strong minds debating questions of theory and law, vieing with the more sturdy for laurels. It is woman that has a heart of sympathy, and elected to the position of Superintendent of Schools, she sees to it that the teachers are provided with boards, charts and tablets; that the school room is comfortable and hygienic, that the teacher is efficient and industrious, that methods are the most modern, &c. Such are reasons for women making our very best County Superintendents. Miss Mary G. Anderson is serving out a most successful term of four years and for a second term her name will go before the people under the Democratic device without opposition from the opposing party. A fine record has she. Montgomery county is not alone in being thus favored, for our neighbor county, Rowan, has her Miss Cora Wilson, and while her name will appear under the same device, there are hundreds of the opposing parties who will cast their votes for her, knowing that she will become one of the State's most efficient officials and that before her term of office has expired Rowan county will boast of her public schools as second to no other in the State.
